Applications Open For After School Matters

After School Matters is now accepting applica-tions for its Fall program cycle. More than 300 procycle. More than 300 programs in the arts, communications, science, sports and technology will be offered beginning the week of Sept. 28th at more than 70 Chicago public high schools, Chicago Park District, Chicago Public Library and community-based organization locations throughout the city as well as downtown at the well as downtown at the Gallery 37 Center for the Arts. Teens can search and apply for Fall pro-grams online at afterschoolmatters.org.
Approximately 7,000 paid apprenticeship and internship will be available to high school teens this fall. Fall programs will meet approximately three days a week for three hours per day over the course of 10 weeks. Participating teens will be eligible to earn a stipend of between $275 and $425 (depending on the program level), and interns can earn $10.00 per hour. The programs offer teens an opportunity to explore and develop their talents, while gaining critical skills for work, college and beyond. A few of the innovative programs offered throughout the city this fall include: Advanced Video Production – Tech. Location: Gallery 37 Center for the Arts, Loop. In Advanced Video Production, teens learn all the skills needed to make their own short movies, including script writing, editing and operating video cameras. After learning those skills, teens pitch ideas for their own short films, then write scripts, act, shoot, direct and edit to bring their visions to life. Fashion Forward: The Beverly Center Arts Apprenticeship – Arts. Location: Harlan Com-Arts. munity Academy High School, Roseland. In this apprenticeship, teens use fashion as self-expression, learning how to create a garment from start to finish. Garments made by students are modeled in a culminating runway showcase. In addition, teens learn about global fashion trends and career paths in the fashion industry. Growing Power: Growing Food and Community Through Urban Farming Science. Location: Seward Park, Near North Side. Teens in this program grow organic vegetables, herbs and flowers to better understand how to develop sustainable food systems. In addition to hands-on instruction at the farm, participants will explore the science behind farming and take part in nutrition, hunger, cooking food justice and food politics activities.

In the Forensics Lab – Science. Location: Foreman High School,

Portage Park. Teens discover what it's like to work as a forensic scientist through hands-on learning with professionals from the Illinois State Police Department. Topics covered include fingerprinting, biology and DNA, and how the local justice department works with forensic spe-MAVReC – Tech. Location: Alternatives, Inc., Uptown. This pro-gram will explore topics relevant to teens today, such as media representation, gender expectations, street harassment, conflict and more.

Participants will learn how to use their new knowledge to make their community a better place.

Ring Leaders – Sports. Location: Chicago Youth Boxing Club, South Lawndale. Ring Leaders prepares teens to become amateur boxing youth coaches, instructors and officials by teaching them the physical and professional components of the sport. After learning coaching techniques, methods of group man-agement and sports instruction, teens create their own lesson plans to run weekly practicum sessions for youth in the community aged six to 12.

Second City Improv Comedy Leaders - Gallery. Location: Bronzeville Scholastic Institute,

Grand Boulevard. The legendary Second City offers a 10-week apprenticeship teaches teens to use voice, body, music and personal stories as an ensemble to create characters and funny scenes to empower their lives today and for the future. Urban WE-COLOGY – Science. Location: George Washington High School, East Side. The Urban WE-COLOGY project aims to strengthen the understanding and appreciation of the symbiotic relationship between people in society and nature. Students in the program are exposed to various careers associated with urban ecology and educated to become leaders in their communities for environmental justice. Teens can search and apply for Fall programs at afterschoolmatters.org. Programs are free and open to Chicago teen residents who are at least 14 years of age (16 years of age for internships) and who are entering or currently enrolled in high school. Teens who have been in After School Matters for three or more sessions will be given priority consideration for internships. Teens interwith program instructors to discuss and present their skills and interests. For questions about programs and applications, call 312-742-4182 or email applications@afterschoolmat-

Patriot Day

By Dr. R. Pletsch

The remembrance of 9/11 has been called Patriot Day since 2002 and while no one is harder on America than Americans, it is worthwhile to truly reflect on our country. Teachers and principals wishing to honor America have a very short time. The largest school district in our area begins September 8th, which is only three days before Patriot Day. was a principal on that tragic day and every Sept. 11th, schools I was at produced a memorial. I was honored to hear from many former teachers that the last school I left has continued this tradition. Many parents have thanked me for showing these events to their children because most of them were not really aware of the events and many of the TV channels have not shown everything in all the years. Teachers, principals this
