IDPH Urges Flu Shots

The Illinois Department of Public Health urges anyone who has not yet received flu vaccine to get it as soon as possible. This week is National Influenza Vaccination Week (Dec. 6th to 10th) a national observance to highlight the importance of continuing vaccination. While many people typically get the flu vaccine in early fall, flu activity usually peaks between December and February.

In addition to getting a flu shot, IDPH recommends following the 3 C's: clean, cover, and contain. Clean - frequently wash your hands with soap and warm water. Cover - cover your cough and sneeze. Contain - contain your germs by staying home if you are sick. Influenza antiviral drugs can be a second line of defense for treatment of some who get sick with flu and can lessen the duration and severity of symptoms.

CPS Restores Special Ed Teachers

By Dr. R. Pletsch

Some people have asked me what is meant when we say Special Ed. In short, it is a child who through no fault of their own has trouble learning. This could be hearing problems, sight problems, autism, inability to learn at what is considered the average pace, or discipline problems in which the child has no control over.

The Board of Ed earlier this year cut about 150 Special Ed positions in the system. This caused many problems in the schools because the principal is responsible to complete all individual educational programs (IEP), which became impossible without the personnel. The Board had been in more turmoil than usual with the CPS Special Ed chief resigning in October and not being replaced and, of course, all the problems with Barbara Byrd Bennett.

The US Dept. of Education Office of Special Ed is celebrating its 40th anniversary using "The Individuals With Disability Education Act" which gives all with disabilities rights to an appropriate public education in the least restrictive environment. This means a child in Special Ed has the right to full access to college and career ready programs that are available for these students with a high expectation to meet these goals to the best of their ability.

The Illinois State Board of Education have released several resources including the following links: A) Dear Colleague Letter: Clarification of FAPE and Alignment with State Academic Standards; B) IDEAS That Work: Preparing Children and Youth with Disabilities for Success; and C) Supporting and Responding to Behavior: Evidence-Based Classroom Strategies for Teachers.

The cost of educating Special Ed children is higher than those of other children because numbers in a classroom are mandated to be lower. We understand the Board of Ed is broke and is seeking ways to cut the budget, but this was very shortsighted. Most of these children given the proper education will have the ability to become self-sufficient in the future allowing them to work and not being dependent on the government for their sustenance the rest of their lives. This is truly a great savings to the taxpayers in the long run.

There is a fine program for Catholic Special Ed students wishing to make their sacraments working in our community. Times and locations vary. The program is called SPRED (Special Religious Development). For more information go to the Archdiocese of Chicago website www.spred.org or contact Father James McCarthy, Director, at info@spred.org.

Holiday Gift For Mayor

Burke and members of the Chicago City Council presented Mayor Rahm Emanuel with two replicas of the massive lions that adorn the steps to the Art Institute as their holiday gift to the City's Chief Executive. The reproductions represent "two of Chicago's most iconic landmarks" which have flanked the Michigan Avenue entrance to the Art Institute since it opened in 1893. Sculptor Edward Kemeys originally created the lions - Prowl and Defiance - for the World's Columbian Exposition. After the fair closed they were moved to the west entrance of the Art Institute where they remain today. Last year the City Council gifted the Mayor with an Honor Horse which now stands outside the fifth floor entrance to his City Hall office.

Applications For After School Matters

After School Matters is accepting teen applications for its Spring program session. More than 300 programs in the arts, communications, science, sports and technology will be offered beginning the week of Feb. 22 at more than 70 Chicago public high schools, as well as Chicago Park District, Chicago Public Library and community organization locations throughout the city, and downtown at the Gallery 37 Center for the Arts.

In total, more than 7,000 paid apprenticeship and internship opportunities will be available to Chicago high school teens this spring through After School Matters. Spring programs will meet approximately three days a week for three hours per day over the course of 12 weeks. Participating teens will be eligible to earn a stipend of between $275 and $425 (depending on the program level), and interns can earn $10.00 per hour.

Independent studies and recent data have confirmed that teens who participate in After School Matters programs have higher Freshmen On-Track rates, improved school-day attendance and higher high school graduation rates than their peers.

A few of the innovative programs offered throughout the city this spring include:

Aztec Dance Chicago -- Arts. Location: Instituto Health Sciences Career Academy High School, Little Village. In Aztec Dance, teens learn the history and culture of Aztec-Nahua dances, musical rhythms and songs through field trips and hands-on workshops with local Aztec dance professionals and dance groups. After participating in these workshops, students showcase what they learn through presentations.

Bessie Coleman Aviation All-Stars -- Science Location: Gwendolyn Brooks College Preparatory High School, Roseland. The Bessie Coleman Aviation All-Stars program offers teens the opportunity to explore the careers of aircraft pilots by interacting with professionals in the field, learning about the history of minorities in aviation, and gaining first-hand experience flying and operating an airplane.

Social Documentary -- Tech. Location: Phillips Academy High School, Bronzeville. In the Social Documentary apprenticeship, teens learn the skills needed to write, direct and produce a short documentary. After developing those skills, teens will pick a documentary topic of their choosing and then film and edit footage to bring their visions to life.

Urban Hardball (and Softball) -- Sports. Location: Columbus Park, Austin. Urban Hardball is a community initiative created to encourage African-American children to participate in little league. Teens train and study to become empires and trainers, with opportunities to work with Little League programs during the following summer.

Cricket -- Sports. Location: Warren Park, West Ridge. In the Cricket program, teens will learn the strategy of the game -- the second most popular sport in the world -- as well as how to referee matches. After learning those basics, the teens will head to the field to showcase what they've learned in a cricket competition.

Chicago Lights Urban Farm -- Science. Location: Chicago Lights Urban Farm, River North. Through growing, harvesting and selling fresh produce, teens in the Chicago Lights Urban Farm program acquire life skills by learning how to grow produce from scratch, and prepare delicious and nutritious meals for neighbors in their community.

Colored Girls Are Cover Girls -- Communications. Location: Firehouse Community Arts Center, North Lawndale. Colored Girls are Cover Girls is a unique program utilizing poetry as a means to create change and impact lives while stimulating growth among girls of color. The program teaches young women that their voices and their writings are valuable tools to educate their peers and community on the plight of young women of color thus empowering them to release and become stronger.

Digital Imagination -- Tech. Location: Kroc Center Chicago, West Pullman. In a challenging introduction to digital media, teens explore digital music recording, video and audio editing, and website and graphic design. Teens learn skills including leadership and collaboration as they work together to complete a final project showcasing their digital imaginations. Teens can search and apply for Spring 2016 programs at afterschoolmatters.org. Programs are free and open to Chicago teen residents who are at least 14 years of age (16 years of age for internships) and are currently enrolled in high school. As part of the application process, teens interview with program instructors to discuss and present their skills and interests. New application features include an interactive map to help teens search for programs, and a responsive mobile functionality. For questions about programs and applications, call (312) 742-4182.
