October 13, 1917

By Dr. R. Pletsch

There are many dates that children are familiar with. Their birthday, Christmas, and, for obvi ous reasons, New Year's Day, Fourth of July and Cinco de Mayo. But there are significant dates important to our history that you may recall December 7, 1941, November 22, 1963, and September 11, 2001. If you are a history major the most important date for the Civil War was July 4, 1863, the Union was victorious in Gettysburg Vicksburg.

We are now going to have the 100th anniversary of three worldwide events that not only occurred on the same date, but most historians agree that they may have occurred at the same time, that is October 13,

One event took place in Moscow when a member of the royal family Maria Alexandravoich was teaching religion to about 200 students in the Church of the Iberian Virgin. The Communist army burst into the church on horseback destroying the sanctuary, the altar, icons and killing an unknown number of children. This was significant because it proved that no authority would stop the revolution that would bring the Communists to rule about a week later.

Annuncio to Germany was walking in the main hall when he was shot in an assassination attempt. But the bullet hit his pectoral cross deflecting away and the gun jammed and no other shot was taken. Later this bishop would become Pope Pius XII and he served from 1939 to 1958.

There was also an event that many of you have heard of in a little village in Portugal known as Fatima. It has become a sign of hope for many. In short the story was not accepted that three children were seeing a "lady in white" later to be called Our Lady of the Rosary. The children claimed a visit, we now call them apparitions. But because only the three children could see her, most people doubted and laughed at them. We probably would do the same with our own children under the same situation. During the September "visit" the children told the officials the lady promised to give proof during her October

The proof, as people began to call it, was The Miracle of the Sun. It was well documented and seen by 70,000 that had gathered and other people up to 40 miles away. Commissions formed to take testimony and "the miracle" was reported by nonbelievers reporting for many European newspapers. Some claimed mass hysteria and mass hypnosis. However, they found no one in the crowd of 70,000 who came to testify that it did not occur and though it rained all day, everyone after the event was dry. Many claimed to be healed of various afflictions. How many no one knows. It is said that some would not record it because they feared they would be ridiculed. Others had no proof therefore were hesitant.

It was known that Portugal at that time was very anti-clerical, cynical and were part of that crowd that believed that science could explain everything. Sounds a little like the United States today. Those who believe like that I am sorry for you. It is hard to live a life with all the worries of the world. Nowadays it's natural disasters, North Korea, ISIS and mass murders. But these people were living through WWI and famine. Without the belief of a supreme being not quite sure how people get through it. Try and remember 10/13/2017 as a centennial day with many events that shaped our lives. There will be many TV programs on the faith-based channels about Fatima. I got the idea for this article from "Life is Worth Living" by Bishop Sheen originally broadcast in 1954.

Online Platform For CPS Schools

Beginning today, Chicago families can apply to schools for the 2018-19 academic year using GoCPS, the district's new online application platform to simplify the process, as well as make it more accessible, equitable and transpar-

GoCPS will reduce barriers to applying to all CPS high schools, district-managed elementary schools, and magnet pre-K programs using a single application.

The high school application process uses a single best offer model in which students will receive an offer from the highest-ranked program/ school on their applica-tion that they qualify for and has available seats. Families can select and rank up to 20 non-selective enrollment programs, and if they are eligible, up to six selective enrollment programs.

Students will be matched with a high school based on their own ranking of each program they applied to, the number of seats available, each program's admissions requirements, and whether any priority preferences are considered (e.g., siblings attending the school, proximity to the school, etc.).

After applications are processed, students will receive a single best offer to their highest ranking non-selective enrollment school where they are matched. Students who qualify and receive an offer to a selective enrollment program will receive an additional offer if they match. If a student does not match with any programs on their application, or does not apply to any programs at all, they are guaranteed a spot in their neighborhood school's general education program. GoCPS applicants will be able to review their initial offers through the website beginning in March 2018, and paper applicants will receive offers in the mail.

GoCPS hosts elementary school applications for all district-managed elementary programs, while charter schools will maintain their own elementary application processes. Families can apply to up to 20 non-selective schools (magnet, magnet cluster and open enrollment), six academic centers (grades 7-8 only), classical schools/regional gifted centers, three regional gifted centers for English learners, and one international gifted program (grades 6-8 only).

Students will receive offers from elementary schools based on a combination of the following factors: available seats in each school, a lottery for non-selective enrollment schools, as well as testing and rank order of programs applied to for selective enrollment schools.

Based on the selection process, they will receive offers to all the non-selective enrollment schools where they are selected; and an offer from one school in each selective enrollment school type (academic centers, classical schools/regional gifted centers, regional gifted centers for English learners, and international gifted program) where they are selected. Offers will be available for review on GoCPS and will be mailed to families who applied on paper. Families can apply to the four CPS magnet preschool programs – Drummond, Inter-American, Mayer and Suder. These programs select students through a computerized lottery process. Notification letters will be available for review on GoCPS and will be mailed to families who applied on paper. For all other pre-K programs, the application process is managed by the City's Chicago Early Learning website at www.chicagoearlylearn-ing.org. CPS' Office of Access and Enrollment operates a call center to provide support to anyone with questions about the application processes at (773) 553-2060 from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Tree Trim At Brookfield Zoo

Brookfield Zoo gear up for its 36th annual Holiday Magic by participating in the annual Community and Corporate Tree Trim on Saturday, Nov. 18th, or Sunday, Nov. 19th from 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Community and corporate groups including schools, scout troops, libraries, individual families and luba con groups proclubs can sponsor a pre-lit tree that will be on dis-play for the holiday season.

Groups can choose a theme for their trees and have fun making their ornaments before heading to Brookfield Zoo to decorate. School groups may select a theme around its mascot or school colors, a scout troop may highlight its badges, or a corporation may create ornaments based on its mission. Many trees are dedicated in memory of loved ones and include photos and thoughtful messages.

Depending on the size of the ornaments, it is recommended to create approximately 100 to 150 for community trees and up to 200 for corporate trees. Since ornaments will need to withstand the elements of winter, it is also suggested that they be painted, var-nished, shellacked, or laminated.

Community trees will line the zoo's north, south, east, and west malls. Groups may purchase a tree for $140 ($160 after Oct. 6th) and receive 20 admission passes and five parking

Exemption Savings For Homeowners

The Cook County Assessor's Office is implementing expanded exemption eligibility and savings to help more homeowners save money on property taxes. These changes resulted after Senate Bill 473 (Public Act 100-0401) was recently signed into law. The Cook County Assessor's Office administers numerous exemptions that are subtracted from a home's Equalized Assessed Value, resulting in deductions from the dollar amount of The Homeowner Exemption, available to eligible taxpayers/residents of any ages on their primary home, increases from $7,000 to $10,000 in EAV. The Senior Exemption, for taxpayers/residents 65 years or older, regardless of income, increases from $5,000 to $8,000 in EAV. It is important to note that the exemption amount is not the dollar amount by which a tax bill is lowered. EAV is the partial value of property to which tax rates are applied; is it the figure on which a tax bill is calculated.

The Senior Freeze Exemption for low-income seniors expands eligibility by increasing allowable total household income to $65,000 from the previous limit of $455,000. There is also a new minimum of $2,000 EAV deduction for the Senior Freeze, which will help offset increases in assessed value.

All exemptions and corresponding savings appear on each year' Second-Installment Bills additional information regardless exemptions, contact 443-7550 or www.cookcountyassessor.com.

Mayor Rahm Emanuel announced a major step towards construction of the new Public Safety Training Academy in West Garfield Park. The Chicago Infrastructure Trust in coordination with the City of Chicago will issue a Request for Qualifications for the design, construction and financing of the 30-acre training campus. The consolidated centralized training academy will improve interagency collaboration in emergency response, and emphasize hands-on tactical training in real-world situations.

The campus will include two buildings, employee parking and an outdoor training area with functions like indoor shooting range, diving pool, conventional classrooms, conference rooms, administration offices, auditorium, practice range and fitness facilities. The site will also include specialized simulation facilities for active scenario training, ranging from buildings, to CTA train cars, to city streets. It will also have a driving training pad and modular units for scenario base training as well as space for Fire Department extraction training, high-rise operations, search-and-rescue, and confined space rescue training.

Together, these features will ensure the new training academy will not only improve interagency collaboration in emergency response, but also expand the capacity for first responders to receive hands-on tactical training in real-world situations.

Visionary Ideas For Riverwalk

A floating ecology classroom, a boating raceway, and an audiovisual performance space are among the 27 visionary ideas for Chicago's riverfront by the River Edge Ideas Lab exhibit unveiled by Mayor Rahm Emanuel, the Metropolitan Planning Council, nine participating architects and other partners and funders. Part of the Chicago Architecture Biennial, the River Edge Ideas Lab features development concepts from world-class architectural firms for three iconic locations: the Civic Opera House waterfront; beneath the Congress Parkway bridge; and below the St. Charles Air Line Bridge. Each location represents a unique challenge to the Riverwalk's potential 1.8mile extension from the main branch to Ping Tom Park in Chinatown.

Participating architects include Adjaye Asso-James Corner Operations, Perkins+Will, Ross Barney Architects, Sasaki, site, SOM, Studio Gang, and SWA.

The firms' design concepts for each location are on display at Expo 72, 72 E. Randolph St, through Jan. 8th. The public is invited to provide feedback at the exhibit or at www.ChiRiverLab.com.

DPD will incorporate public feedback from the River Edge Ideas Lab into updated River Design Guidelines in 2018. The updated guidelines will offer best practices to create a continuous pedestrian and bicycle path with accessible connections and open spaces incorporating integrated landscaping, artwork and lighting.

A traveling version of the River Edge exhibit is now open at the Bridgehouse Museum at Michigan ave. and Wacker

New Rules for IL Health Insurance

Governor Bruce Rauner signed the Network Adequacy and Transparency Act which ensures protections for Illinois patients who have struggled with the "narrowing" of physician networks.

Initiated by the Illinois State Medical Society the act states that insurance plan networks must have enough health facilities and doctors, including specialists, in close proximity to where their policyholders live.

Insurers are now obligated to maintain updated providers directories. If a doctor or hospital is dropped from a network, the insurance company must notify patients in a timely fashion to help avoid out-of-network charges. Doctors also face new patient notification requirements if they choose to leave a network. Patient care must not be disrupted due to changes in health insurance networks. A patient's doctor may be dropped from the network, but pregnancy women and patients with complex conditions will be able to stay with their doctors long enough to make a smooth transition - without getting charged extra.
