

Illinois' Bicentennial

By Dr. R. Pletsch

The state of Illinois is celebrating its Bicentennial. It was December 3, 1818 that Illinois became the 21st state in the Union. There will be numerous events leading up to this date. The state has supplied books to the schools for the teachers to utilize. This is an opportunity for children, family and teachers to participate in some once in a lifetime activities.

History teachers have a special opportunity to plan for exciting classroom activities. I have talked to several teachers, some say their schedule is just too busy and is not part of their curriculum. Others say it is great. Experienced teachers will find ways to use the data in other subjects, like Literature and Writing. Why not a History Fair or an in-school contest? My students always loved intramural contests.

I know I and my students often enjoyed finding unexpected results in research. The kids would enjoy trying to understand how brave the settlers had to be and how different life was. They think it's hard when their phone is down, what about when you had to kill your own food and toilets weren't invented. It may be interesting for the children to try and understand why so many Indian tribes moved West to avoid the settlers. A good starting place is the website Illinois200.com.

Grants for Nature Play Initiative

The Chicago Park District announced an in-kind grant program to support the expansion of its Nature Play initiative citywide. Park advisory councils and community groups are encouraged to apply for support to build or expand a nature play space in their park by June 1st. Grants will be provided to 10 projects, with funding support of up to $10,000.

The new grant program aims to aid groups at any stage of the nature play process including design, installation, maintenance, and training. Self-guided nature play by children has a beneficial impact on their health, attention and stress levels. With frequent, repeated visits, habitats designated or created for nature play can become safe spaces for children to develop motor skills, friendships, creativity and a sense of place in the environment of their city. Additional information and applications are available at <https://www.chicagoparkdistrict.com/parks-facilities/nature-play-spaces>.

Awareness Month For Skin Cancer

The Skin Cancer Foundation reports that the disease affects people of every age, gender and ethnicity. One in five Americans will develop skin cancer by the age of 70. More people are diagnosed with skin cancer each year in the U.S. than all other cancers combined.

About 90 percent of non-melanoma skin cancers and about 86 percent of melanomas are associated with exposure to ultraviolet radiation from the sun. Knowing the risk factors and practicing sun protection year-round are key to reducing your risk.

Seek the shade, do not burn, avoid tanning and UV tanning booths, cover up with clothing, use a broad-spectrum (UVA/UVB) sunscreen, keep newborns out of the sun, examine your skin head to toe every month and see your physician every year for a professional skin exam.

For more information, visit SkinCancer.org.

New Exhibits At Nature Museum

The Chicago Academy of Sciences Peggy Notebaert Nature Museum in Lincoln Park will present Amazing Amphibians and Nature's Puzzles June 21st through Sept. 3rd.

Amazing Amphibians submerges visitors in the diverse world of amphibians testing their knowledge through interactive play. A colorful maze at the front of the exhibit greets families, inviting them to discover the life-cycles of these remarkable species through trivia and hands-on activities.

Guests can hop on the exhibit's "Treetop Glider," a 15-foot zip line where kids (and the young at heart) can glide from tree to tree like a black-webbed tree frog of Southeast Asia and test their knowledge with fun trivia about amphibians. The exhibit also features live frogs and other amphibians and shares suggestions for ways Chicagoans can help protect amphibian populations locally.

In this early-education exhibit Nature's Puzzles children can solve the mathematical puzzles found in the natural world from the patterned spots on their pets to the delicate symmetry of a butterfly's wings. Interactive elements will explore four key themes - repeating patterns, shapes and sizes, designs in nature, and mathematical inquiry.

Guests can spin a colorful, patterned disc mounted to a butterfly's wing and marvel at how the patterns align and mix. Create their own snowflakes using fractals - geometric shapes that repeatedly subdivide in nature. Explore the properties of light and color on a tabletop with prisms and light. Arrange what appear to be simple shapes to create silhouettes of animals. Assemble a series of overhanging cantilevers by balancing wooden blocks.

For more information, visit naturemuseum.org or call (773) 755-5100.

Safety Tip For Mylar Balloons
As graduation season nears, don't let a Mylar metallic balloon lead to power outages when they come into contact with outdoor power lines. From 2013 to 2017, more than 312,000 customer power outages occurred because of foil balloon contact. These balloons also can float for days and end up having a negative impact on the environment.
Do not attempt to retrieve a balloon or toy that is entangled in an overhead power line. For assistance, call ComEd at 1-800-334-7661.
