Bar Assn. Band Offers Concert

The Chicago Bar Association's Barristers Big Band will perform a tribute concert spotlighting the music of jazz icon Woody Herman in the Cindy Pritzker Auditorium, Lower Level, at the Harold Washington Library Center, 400 S. State St. on Friday, Oct. 25th at 6 p.m.

One of the all-time great big band leaders, Woody Herman's music parallels the changes in jazz, from the 1930s swing era to bebop and cool jazz in the 40s and 50s; to the emergence of blues and jazz/rock fusion in the 60s and 70s. The concert will cover all these periods featuring such hits as Blue Prelude, Laura, Golden Wedding and MacArthur Park.

The band's membership includes big law firm partners, private practicing attorneys, government lawyers, law students and even a sitting federal judge.

For more information, call (312) 747-4050.

Kelly Band In Franklin Park Festival

The Kelly High School Marching Band, under the direction of Michael McCain has been invited to perform at a variety of events across a wide range of venues this fall. The band opened their season with an invitation to be the only Chicago Public School to participate in the Band Day event with fourteen other bands from across the state at Northwestern University on Sept. 7th. The band also performed at the downtown Mexican Independence Day Parade on Sept. 14th.

On Oct. 5th, the Kelly Marching Band, cheerleaders and flag groups, assisted by Ms. Chani Buchic were invited to represent the Chicago area in the Illinois State University Homecoming Parade. The students watched the ISU Band rehearse, marched in the parade and received campus tours. On Oct. 6th, the students marched in the Franklin Park Fall Festival Parade. Most recently, the Kelly Band marched in the downtown Columbus Day Parade with several other bands from the Chicagoland area. Upcoming events include the Pumpkin Jamboree in Garfield Ridge on Oct. 26th and an invitation to return to the McDonalds Thanksgiving Day Parade on Nov. 28th.

The grand prize is an airline voucher for round-trip main cabin air transportation for the winner and a companion to any destination within the contiguous 48 states, Canada, the Caribbean, and Mexico served directly by American Airlines.

Submissions should be 8x10 inches and either color or black and white, and must feature an animal, although it does not have to be taken at Brookfield Zoo. (Photos with people will not be accepted.) Do not frame or mat your photo.

To enter, fill out an entry form and tape it to the back of the photo (one entry per person). Download forms and rules from www.CZS.org/PhotoContest. Forms are also available at the zoo's north and south information kiosks or by calling (708) 688-8351.

All entries must be received by Monday, Oct. 14th at 5 p.m.

Judges will select one grand prize winner from all entries. In addition, a first-, second-, and third-place winner will be selected in two age categories: adult (12 and older) and child (11 and under). Winners will be notified by phone and invited to an awards reception on Saturday, Nov. 9th. Winning photos will be displayed in the zoo's Discovery Center lobby, as well as on www.CZS.org.

Congressman Dan Lipinski and 23rd Ward Alderman Mike Zalewski are hosting a seminar to assist Lake Township homeowners with the property tax appeals process at The Mayfield Banquets, 6072 S. Archer Ave., on Monday, Oct. 21st at 6 p.m.

The presentation will explain the appeals process with the Cook County Board of Review. Materials will be available to file the appeal with staff available to answer questions.

The Cook County Board of Review will analyze comparable properties to determine if the property has been assessed at too high a value. To help their cases, homeowners can present appraisals, assessments of surrounding homes or any other evidence that shows the fair market value of their property.

For additional information, call (312) 886-0481.

Reading Award For St. Gall Teacher

Teacher Jennifer Burns and principal Janie Flores displays recognition award for improving reading levels.

For the second consecutive year, St. Gall teacher Jennifer Burns was honored by Creative Education Institute for her work resulting in her students' improvement in their reading skills. Working with forty 1st through 5th graders, every student in her charge increased their reading level by at least one full level. Burns serves as St. Gall's resource teacher.

A graduate of Queen of Peace High School and Western Illinois University, Burns has served on St. Gall's faculty since 2009. In her current capacity, she provides testing to measure their academic progress and evaluates where they rate compared to their peer group, nationally.

Ms. Burns works with students to strengthen their reading and comprehension skills as well as collaborating with their classroom teachers to identify teaching techniques that will support each student's progress. Extra math support is provided to students 2nd through 8th grades.

She also serves as Lead Teacher for the St. Gall's Chicagoland English Language Learners program in collaboration with Loyola University Chicago.

Benefits of Homework

DR. R.J. PLETSCHE

Homework! Just the mention of the word brings about different feelings and memories for almost everybody. I have had teachers who used it for punishment, I've had parents who thought it was more important than it was, I've had students who completely ignored it and lied to their parents. Let's take a look at the issue.

Latest research has shown that homework should be used to reinforce activities already taught in the classroom. Students should not be expected to learn concepts during homework, but they can be asked to memorize spelling, prayers, and other memory type activities. I've known many teachers who became overly aggravated by students not completing their homework. Ideally, it helps the student, but should not leave a gap in their work. It is time spent best elsewhere. Give the kid the zero and go on.

There are many groups affiliated with the schools that want to help with homework, being it an after school program, club, a youth center, or even older sibling. This is fine, but for the most impact the parents must be involved. We, as parents, often talk about the importance of school but do little to show it. Students look at your actions, more than your words. Doing some of the homework with the students shows your interest and helps the parent prepare for conferences with the teachers. Help your student, do not do it for them. This simple advice sounds obvious, but after a day at work, it is a big temptation to help get it done. I had a fourth grader at the Yale School once tell me when I questioned his low score on the weekly Spelling test despite turning in all his work. His reply, "Come on teacher, don't you know my mother's handwriting yet?"

One of the most useful methods of helping is to set a time according to the parents' schedule to sit and help with the homework. It does not have to be the same time every day. But it should be when the parent knows that on that day, that week, they won't have anything more important to do than help with homework, and a parent, having set this time, should do everything humanly possible to give their child that time. Never accept "Oh, I did it at school". If so, fill that time with other activities, study spelling words, check times tables, help with CCD problems, or read a comic book. All these activities instill in your child that you, the parent, understand the importance of school.

Parents and teachers should work with the child when they had to be absent. I have had many teachers send down the absent student's homework and many parents call for homework, but think about it. The student has been absent for about a six hour day. You're not going to make that up in a 30-minute session. Parents should ask for and receive the work their child missed during the entire day. It is also important that the work you see your child do is their own and is worthy of what they can do. These would be good guidelines whether your child is just starting or is finishing school.

Halloween Fest At Brookfield Zoo

Brookfield Zoo's annual Boo! at the Zoo fun-filled Halloween celebration will feature a corn maze, special Zoo Chats, haunted hayrides, pumpkin-carving demonstrations, and a costume parade and contest on Saturdays and Sundays, Oct. 19th - 20th and 26th - 27th from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Staff will be sharing interesting facts about some of the animals during special Zoo Chats throughout each weekend. Guests can visit Australia House to learn about the Rodrigues fruit bats at 11:30 a.m.; The Swamp at 12:30 p.m. to learn about spiders and then Hamill Family Play Zoo for an owl Zoo Chat at 1 p.m.

Afterwards, visit Feathers and Scales at 2 p.m. to learn about scorpions; Reptiles and Birds for a snake Zoo Chat at 2:30 p.m. and the Zoo Chat about the Mexican gray wolves at Great Bear Wilderness at 3 p.m.

Zookeepers will give pumpkins at 11 a.m. to the rhinos on Oct. 19th, orangutans on Oct. 20th, the sloth bears, polar bears and grizzly bears on Oct. 26th and lions on Oct. 27th.

On the West Mall, the "Pumpkin Smasher" will be crushing the orange gourds every hour on the hour starting at 11 a.m. Professional pumpkin carver Steve Dahlke will use a variety of tools to create masterpieces out of gigantic pumpkins.

Families can try to find their way out of the 7,000 square foot Dino Track corn maze on the East Mall. Guests can enter a drawing during the first weekend for the chance to win a seven-night grand prize trip with airfare for two to Montego Bay, Jamaica courtesy of the Jamaica Tourist Board, Sunset Beach, and Apple Vacations.

At 1 p.m. each day, the costume parade kicks off just north of The Carousel. Prior to the pa-

Innovation Lab At Library Center

The Chicago Public Library will open a free Innovation Lab at the Harold Washington Library Center, 400 S. State St. through Dec. 31st.

Already used by a variety of industries from retail to banking to universities, Innovation labs offer organizations a place to test new ideas for services, programs and products.

The third floor space will allow CPL to experiment with new ideas to be more customer focused and adapt to the community's changing needs.

The first innovation experiment is the Maker Lab, part of the growing movement of collaborative learning environments in which people share knowledge and resources to design, create and built items.

Created in partnership with the Museum of Science and Industry, the Maker Lab offers the public an introduction to technology and equipment which are enabling new forms of personal manufacturing and business opportunities.

After the six month run, the Library will evaluate the project to determine the ability to bring the project, or elements of it, to neighborhood branches.

The Lab will offer access to a variety of software such as Trimble Sketchup, Inkscape, Meshlab, MakerCam and equipment including three 3D Printers, two laser cutters, as well as milling machine and vinyl cutter.

In addition to Open Lab hours during which patrons can work with staff members to master new software and create personal projects, a variety of programs and workshops will be offered throughout the seven day schedule. Family workshops will be offered every Sunday afternoon to foster invention, creation and exploration of STEAM (Science, Technology, Engineering, Art and Math) the focus of this year's Summer Learning Challenge.

Annual Conference On Water Quality

The WEFTEC 2013 conference was recently held at McCormick Place to test the diverse skills required for the operation and maintenance of wastewater treatment facilities, their collection systems and laboratories. Commissioner Mariyana Spyropoulos (right) Chairman of the Finance Committee, of the Metropolitan Water Reclamation District of Greater Chicago, introduced Robert Kennedy, Jr., left as principal speaker. Mr. Kennedy is on the Board of Ostara, which will help the MWRD with nutrient removal from its process.

Awareness Week For Radon Gas

The United States EPA will observe National Radon Action Week Oct. 20th-26th.

The American Lung Association, Centers for Disease Control, and National Cancer Institute all agree that radon is the leading cause for lung cancer among non-smokers.

Radon is a naturally occurring, invisible and odorless radioactive gas and one in 15 American homes contains high levels. By taking simple steps to test your home for radon and fix if necessary, this health hazard can be avoided.
