Kennedy Assassination

DR. R.J. PLETSCHE

but not really remembering what they thought.

I don't recall anyone in my family that was sad when Ruby killed Oswald. I remember my father saying "what did he expect". I am almost embarrassed to recall that I was disappointed that the Bears/Steelers game (the NFL did not cancel their schedule) was televised or even on the radio, and the Bears were on the way to a championship.

Many schools have since set standards of informing students of tragedies, and being age-appropriate. While we hope that these type of things do not reoccur, we do have to prepare so that we can give our children the stability needed to deal with any and all diversity.

IDES Offers Career Info

Nearly 4,000 scholarship and financial aid opportunities highlight the Illinois Department of Employment Security's effort to use education and job training to build a better workforce.

Educational attainment is the best predictor of employability. Job training is the key to a skilled and adaptable workforce. IDES' Career Information System is a pathway for both at www.ides.illinois.gov/careerinfo. It offers instructions on how to evaluate a career, obtain the education and training needed for that career, and establish a timeline to guide the journey.

The Career Information System is valuable to adults considering a career change; parents introducing elementary students to basic work concepts and exceptions; high school students considering college courses and vocational training; and educators guiding students through college testing and career assessments. Specific guidance also is offered for Veterans, the disabled and formerly incarcerated.

Adults will benefit from assessments that identify occupations that match an individual's interests, skills and preferences. Suggestions on how to build a resume, interview techniques and tips to be successful in the workplace also are available.

Bill to Protect Health Insurance

Congressman Dan Lipinski (IL-3) is cosponsoring the "If You Like Your Health Plan, You Can Keep it Act" (H.R. 3406), which will change Obamacare and allow insurance companies to continue offering plans to existing customers that the law currently requires them to cancel. Under the bill, there is no time limit on how long these plans can be renewed.

"Too many Americans are receiving notices that their health care plan has been cancelled because of Obamacare, despite assurances that you can keep your plan if you like it.' This promise should not have been broken," Lipinski said. "H.R. 3406 does not guarantee that every person will still be offered their plan, but it would overturn the requirement that these plans be cancelled at the end of this year.

Problems like this are among the reasons I did not vote for Obamacare. Since the passage of the law, I have sponsored, co-sponsored, or voted for more than 20 pieces of legislation to try to make Obamacare work well in the short term, the long term and be fair to all Americans."

To further protect Americans from Obamacare's mismanaged rollout, Rep. Lipinski introduced the Health Care Access Fairness and Penalty Delay Act (H.R. 3425). This commonsense legislation would require the Health and Human Services Inspector General to certify when the healthcare.gov website is fully operational. Individuals would then have at least 90 days to enroll in a health care plan, and the mandate's penalties would not commence until 30 days later.
