

Senator McCain Laid to Rest

Dr. R. Pletsch

The funeral services for Senator John McCain are finally completed. So many stories were told that we are tired of it already. One interesting thing was that supposedly Sen. McCain arranged most of it himself. If so, this politician who was known to "cross the aisle" and vote Democratic must have forgotten the 2008 Presidential election.

The Senator along with Gov. Palin were facing Obama and Biden. The campaign was brutal. The Democrats were meaner to McCain than the current President ever was. The campaign was filled with many of the old anti-war group and on more than one occasion people in the crowd referred to Captain John McCain as a "baby killer". Yet only Republicans appear to have been on the published list of those not to attend his funeral.

This was after ex-POW James Stockdale, The VP candidate with Ross Perot in 1992, was also treated without respect, even though during his seven years in captivity and torture he lost most of his hearing. Truth be as it is, if McCain was never a POW no one would ever have considered him to run for the Senate. If you would like to see what he went through, the 1987 movie "Hanoi Hilton" starring Michael Moriarty talks about the issue.

The writer introduced over 100 ex-POWs from the Hanoi Hilton and about 15 of them, including McCain, were given special mention in the credits for their help in the filming. Never heard of the movie? It is hard to find and rumors were that because of the way the movie treated the Peace Movement and Jane Fonda, the movie sort of disappeared. That copies were bought up. I haven't heard anything else of this in the last 20 years, so who knows.

What I know is that Capt. McCain earns his right to be called a hero -- not because he was shot down, not that he was tortured, but he was offered his release. Yes, he could have come home earlier because his father was an Admiral. McCain turned it down saying it was against POW protocol. How many of us would not have taken the opportunity? Not sure most people reading this article would have remained in the Hanoi Hilton.

Despite all the hype, I asked some students grades 4 - 6 if they saw the funeral. One student said yes, we saw the pink Cadillacs. You're right that was Aretha Franklin's funeral, which, of course, was more entertaining. May God rest both their souls.

New Building For Columbia Explorers Academy

Aldermen Edward M. Burke (14th) and Ray Lopez (15th) recently joined Mayor Rahm Emanuel and Chicago Public Schools Chief Executive Officer Dr. Janice Jackson in opening a new $2.7 million modular building to provide additional classroom space at Columbia Explorers Academy, 45th & Kedzie. The building is comprised of six new classrooms with a modern design and large windows. Site improvements also include a new playlot, exterior finishes and perimeter landscape. "Public schools anchor our neighborhoods and represent the highest values that we can place upon education," Alderman Burke said. "As the new school year unfolds, this modular addition will enhance the learning experience for Columbia students in a safe and welcoming environment." Principal Eileen Considine and Assistant Principals Beth West and Veronica Barrera were praised "for the fine work they do in preparing students for their future leadership roles in society."
