16 Year Olds and the Right to Vote

By Dr. R. Pletsch

During the last two weeks I've had conversations with four separate groups of students grades 6 - 12. They were diverse, one group from the Southside, one from the far Southwest suburbs, one from the Western suburbs and one from Southwest Michigan. I posed a question about whether 16 year olds should be given the vote. This sample is small, only about 80 students, but the age range was 12 - 17, makes the results interesting, but not scientific. The results seem pretty split among yes, no and I don't care. Here are some of the more interesting comments. An 8th grade girl stated "I would like to vote, but my 16 year old sister is so stupid I'd hate for her to vote". One young man from a high school said "he looked forward to voting, but the same legislators who are going to vote on this not to allow anyone under 21 to buy cigarettes and I'm sure they want to do the same thing once they legalize marijuana".

A 15 year old girl stated "it's my world too, why shouldn't I vote". A few made the issue that the kids they know would only vote the same way their parents do anyway. The group of high school students were very interesting. I posed them the question and one of them said "the younger students changed their minds more often". I asked if anyone there had changed their mind recently.

And like a movie they all turned their heads at the same time to one young man, so I asked him "why everyone was looking at him". Without hesitation he said he had been an adamant anti-Trumper, but since the Mueller report he now supports the president, stating "I found that every reason I hated him were lies and I made a 360".

I am not sure how to approach this with your students, except supporting the fact that it is only an opinion and they may know many 16 year olds that would do a good job in determining how to vote, while others never pay attention. But this is true about 40 and 50 year olds too.

So it is important to let the kids have their opinions, talk about it, and hopefully they can pick individuals to vote for, not based on commercials, but only what the people actually have said. We should support our youngsters so that one day when they get the opportunity to vote, regardless of their age, they will understand how important it is and defend the opportunity to vote that many have fought and died for.

Increase For Distemper Virus

Cook County Animal and Rabies Control is advising pet owners to protect their pets from distemper virus. The department has seen an increase in cases of confirmed canine distemper virus found in raccoons tested after displaying abnormal neurologic signs.

The distemper virus affects the respiratory, gastrointestinal and nervous system of dogs. Symptoms can include ocular and nasal discharge, sneezing, coughing, lethargy, loss of appetite, vomiting, diarrhea, tremors and seizures. Death can occur from secondary pneumonia or non-responsible seizure activity.

The surveillance program for wildlife diseases in Cook County monitors rabies infection and other zoonotic diseases in wildlife and it also detects trends in diseases that can be spread to companion animals.

Cook County Animal and Rabies Control urges pet owners to vaccinate their dogs and prevent contact with wild animals.
