Catholic Schools Week

By Dr. R. Pletsch

What do St. Agnes, St. Anne, St. Basil, St. Bridget, St. David, St. George, St. John the Baptist, and St. John of God have in common? Not only were these vibrant Catholic schools in our surrounding area, but the parishes and even the churches are no longer existent. There may be more than I am aware of, but this gives an example of what a great magnitude Catholic schools had around the area. As the Stockyards and other industries gave immigrants from countries all over the world a place to work.

In its time, the vast majority of students were enrolled in Catholic schools. From conversations with various religious and ethnic representatives, the schools, of course, letting the immigrants have bilingual education, which is not common in the public schools. It also gave the parents a place to meet and share their "old world" culture.

The world has a way of not holding still. Events that effected us all, like World War I, the Great Depression, World War II, and living in an area culturally mixed, many married into other ethnic groups. More and more people began to feel American and did not have the need for an ethnic school

We sometimes over simplify that Vatican II helped bring about an extreme drop in vocations to religious life. These teaching brothers and sisters had to be replaced with lay teachers that made, while poor, much more money than the religious made. A question about the Orthodoxy of Catholic school teachers has been an issue several times. Do these teachers follow the theology as prescribed by the faith and their contracts? What happens when the teacher announces in class that she believes in abortion, or is pregnant or admits to cohabitating? At this point the courts do not support church teachings. These 'scandals" have cost several I personally know to pull their kids out of Catholic schools. Some say it's the money, but if the school delivers most can find a way. I know a family that put five kids through Catholic grade school and two through Catholic high school, the tuition was probably only $500, but the one worker in the family made about $8,000 a year. So money itself is not a good reason if you want the Catholic school structure. Maybe you have to trade that everyone doesn't get Smartphones or Nikes. That's a discussion you have at home.

I am aware of a few "Catholic schools" that have very few Catholic students. They have become private schools because they do not teach Catholicism saying they will lose their non-Catholics and would have to close the school. So if it part of your heritage, and you believe a half hour a day of religion is better than an hour on Saturday, we still have a few nearby schools, St. Mother Theresa school and St. John Paul II. They are relatively affordable and not very far. This is one of many choices that parents make for their kids that will affect them the rest of their lives. Because these classmates will be your child's friends for years to come.

7 p.m. On Feb. 11th, 1960, Mayor Daley's Commission on Chicago Architectural Land-marks designated 38 buildings. The designation was purely honorary and did nothing to protect them. Within a few months, preservationists formed the Chicago Heritage Committee in an attempt to save one of the listed buildings – the Garrick Theater, which was demolished the next year. This lecture will examine the process for designating our city's first land-marks and how politics and the tension between development and preservation played a role.

The building that survived and those that did not will be revealed. Prepaid tickets at $15 person are required. For more information, call (312) 326-1480.

Radon Action Month Features Contests

The Illinois Emer-Management Agency encourages residents to test their home for cancer-causing radon gas that has been found in nearly 40 percent of Illinois homes tested.

The colorless, odorless, tasteless gas is naturally produced from the soil and can enter buildings through small cracks in the foundation, sump pumps or crawlspaces. Statistics show the second-leading cause of lung cancer in the United States.

Several initiatives will increase public awareness of radon risks and ways to reduce radon exposure.

IEMA and American Lung Association in Illinois kicked off its annual statewide contest that encourages students ages 9-14 to use their creative talents in the Illinois Radon Poster Contest. Entries are due by March 6th. Prizes include $200 for first place, $150 for second place, and $100 for third place. For more information, http://www.lung.org/local -content/illinois/our-initiatives/illinois-radonposter-contest.html.

High school students can also complete in the Illinois Radon Video Contest. An individual group of students or classroom, can create a 30 second YouTube video. Prizes include $1,000 for first place, $750 for second place, $500 for third place and $250 for seven honorable mention videos. The winning video will be featured on the big screen in movie theaters throughout the state.

Also new this year, participants can pre-register for the 2020 video contest before Jan. 31st for a free short-term test kit. All videos, entry forms and release forms must be submitted by March 13th. Details about the video contest are available on the American Lung Association in Illinois website: http://www.lung.org/local -content/illinois/our-initiatives/illinois-radonvideo-contest.html.

The top ten submitted videos will be provided a link to share with their friends. At the end of contest, the student with the most video views will receive an additional $300, the schools of the top three winners will receive $300, $200, and $100 for first, second, and third

Students are encouraged to share their video submission on their Twitter account using the hashtag #2020ILRadon-VideoContest. tweet(s) with the most likes and retweets will win a brand new GoPro. The twitter contest will run March 13th-27th. For more information www.radon.illinois.gov. The website includes useful information about radon and lists of licensed measurement and mitigation professionals. Information is also available at (800)

Internship With State Rep. Mah

State Representative Theresa Mah's district of-fices serve the diverse constituents of the 2nd House District, which includes all or parts of Pilsen, Chinatown, Bridgeport, McKinley Park, Brighton Park and Bridgeport, Back of the Yards.

An internship in the district office is a great way to gain valuable experience and learn about state government, legislation, local and statewide issues, and many ways that elected officals serve constituents. Although interships are unpaid, students requesting credit for their internship through their school or university is available.

A 10 to 15 hours a week commitment is re- ${\it quested.}\ Applicants\ must$ submit their resume, cover letter, contact information of three references, and writing samples.

For more information, contact Jana Chiu at (872) 281-5791 or jana.repmah@gmail.com.
